

SHERIFF SCHOENHOLZ NOT GUILTY OF MISCONDUCT

May Locate Governor Small's Trial Today

FIVE ROCKFORD PEOPLE INJURED NEAR ROCHELLE

Sheriff Baldwin One of Victims of Auto Accident.

Five of six Rockford people, including Sheriff Harry Baldwin of Winnebago county who were en route from Chicago to Rockford in a new Packard touring car late Monday afternoon are today in the Lincoln Hospital at Rochelle, receiving treatment for more or less serious injuries as a result of an accident on the Lincoln Highway, three miles east of Rochelle at 5 o'clock yesterday. They are: Sheriff Harry Baldwin; three fractured ribs, severe bruises and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Harry Baldwin: severe cuts and bruises.

John Bollman: fractured collar bone.

Paul Thicker: numerous cuts and severe contusions.

Mrs. Paul Thicker: minor cuts and bruises.

The injuries to Sheriff Baldwin are considered to be the most serious by the attending surgeons, as there is some danger of lung infection.

Auto Overturned

The new Packard car, which Mr. Thicker, local agent for the Packard company in Rockford, was driving to that city from Chicago, and in which the five injured Rockfordites and Mrs. Bollman were riding, collided with a Studebaker sedan, driven by Francis L. Brown of Rockford, district manager of the Rockford Life Insurance Co., at the cross roads, three miles east of Rochelle, known as "Kennedy's Corners," and the new car was turned completely over and almost demolished.

The occupants of the car were thrown from the wreckage and Mr. and Mrs. Thicker were unconscious when picked up by tourists who hastened to their aid and rushed all the injured to the Rochelle hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown escaped injury in the mishap and their car was not badly damaged.

LLOYD GEORGE OPTIMISTIC FOR ARMAMENT MEET

Will Be "Outstanding Event in History of Humanity."

Inverness, Scotland, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George speaking here concerning unemployment today, touched on the Irish question, declaring the London conference beginning on Oct. 11 between representatives of the British government and the Sinn Fein "can only succeed if these who enter it make up their minds, definitely and resolutely, to trust to the common sense of their own people and do not try to reconcile the extremists."

The prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, in a speech here today concerning unemployment, devoted in his introduction to refer optimistically to the forthcoming conference in Washington on limitation of armaments, declaring "it will constitute one of those outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries."

TO END VACATION

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Oct. 4.—Prime Minister Lloyd George planned to leave Gairloch today after a vacation which was often interrupted by state business.

The premier's health is reported to have been improved by the air of the Scottish highland but his physician has forbidden him to address any public meetings for some time.

Must Reserve Seats at Once for Joint Luncheon Two Clubs

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Dixon Kiwanis club contemplating attending the joint luncheon and meeting of both organizations tomorrow evening at 6 p. m. are urged to secure reservations at once. Luncheon will be served by the ladies of St. Luke's Episcopal church, where the meeting will be held and only a limited number can be accommodated. Following the luncheon, E. R. Hutchins of the National Chamber of Commerce will be heard at an address.

JIGGERS! THE COP!

The state automobile inspector is in Dixon today and has been making visits here for several days past checking up violations of the motor vehicle law. Two arrests were made this morning, H. M. Hey and Earl Watts being brought before Justice Marylin J. Gannon in police court to answer to violations.

H. M. Hey paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of operating a motor truck without a license. Earl Watts was assessed a similar fine on a charge of operating a motor car with a license issued for another machine.

SAYS K. K. K. BREEDS HATRED OF MEN WHO CANNOT BE MEMBERS

Asst. Dist. Atty. Cinnin Finds Nothing Sinister Though.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 4.—The Ku Klux Klan engenders "deep hatred" in the hearts of creeds or races "discriminated against," either executive, legislative or judicial, all other kindred caste organizations, John V. Cinnin, assistant United States district attorney said in a statement today after an investigation of the organization.

The investigation resulted after reports had reached federal authorities that a demonstration was planned by the organization that might possibly result in race trouble and property damage, Mr. Cinnin said.

"There is nothing in the charter of a sinister or mystic nature," he declared, "but it is apparent that membership is automatically barred to negroes, Catholics and Jews. It is unfortunate that an organization of this kind should be instituted at this particular time, when the world is seeking to recover from the shock sustained in the World War."

He assailed the Klan's 100 per cent Americanism claim, asserting that all creeds and classes helped win the war.

"Organizations which have for their object the usurping of powers of government, either executive, legislative or judicial, are against public policy," he continued. "Class prejudice, hatred, persecution, discrimination, whether against color or creed, by corporate bodies or individuals, can bring but one result—riot, disorder, anarchy. The courts are our tribunals."

Colonel Cinnin refused to state whether a grand jury inquiry would be conducted into the affairs of the Klan here but admitted he had secured a list of officers and members.

JUDGES DENOUNCE KLAN

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Dallas, Texas, Oct. 4.—Six district judges in Texas today denounced the Ku Klux Klan. Most of the judges included all other kindred caste orders in Texas in their denunciations.

The general discussion of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan by the district judges follows: "closely upon the heels of the clash of Saturday night between the sheriff of McLennan county and paraders marching behind the emblem of the Klan at Lorena, in which the sheriff and nine other men were wounded."

Mayor U. S. Harrell of Cameron, in a proclamation called on all law-abiding citizens to act as special police to prevent bloodshed and loss of life in prohibiting any parade of the Ku Klux Klan or other masked order.

SMALL'S LEGAL ADVISORS MEET CO. PROSECUTOR

Lawyers Will Attempt Agreement on Co. for Hearing.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4.—In an effort to reach an agreement on some county mutually satisfactory as a place to go to trial with the Small embezzlement case, State's Attorney Mortimer and counsel for Gov. Small met in conference today for the first actual negotiations between them since the governor was arrested last summer on charges of defrauding the state treasury. Their purpose in meeting today was to settle, if possible, the question of another county, before making arguments on a charge of venue in Judge Frank W. Burton's court tomorrow.

Former conferences between state's attorney and the governor's lawyers were principally for the purpose of setting dates for filing petitions in the case. The question of where to transact the case was touched only lightly at these brief meetings. It was contended that any agreement between Mortimer and the governor's counsel on some one county would result in that county being named by the court as the place in which to try the case.

Arguments before Judge Burton tomorrow are expected to be short and perfunctory.

Governor Small insisted from the first that he was immune from arrest and that if forced to go to trial would not receive fair and impartial treatment from a Sangamon county jury.

Because of the governor's charges that Sangamon county was hostile, State's Attorney Mortimer immediately agreed to consent to a change of venue, reserving the right to answer the governor's accusations.

With Mortimer's answer, in which he defended Sangamon county, citizenry against the governor's charges, filed in the circuit court, the remaining question to be determined in Sangamon county was the designation of another county to which to send the case.

Miners' Committee Calls on Harding

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—Members of a committee appointed by the United Mine Workers of America at the convention being held in Indianapolis arrived in Washington today to ask President Harding to give protection to 138 miners who are being held as state prisoners in West Virginia jails and whose lives, the union representatives assert, are in jeopardy.

The committee, accompanied by John Moore of Ohio, who holds the proxy of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in the national employment conference, called at the White House early today and obtained an appointment with President Harding for later in the day.

The committee consists of J. W. Wiggins of West Virginia, F. C. Hughes of Illinois and E. J. Giles of Iowa.

Traffic on I. C. is Blocked By Wreck

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 4.—Traffic on the Illinois Central between Chicago and Kankakee was completely tied up at 1:55 o'clock this morning when a Chicago-St. Louis fast freight was wrecked one mile north of here by a broken track.

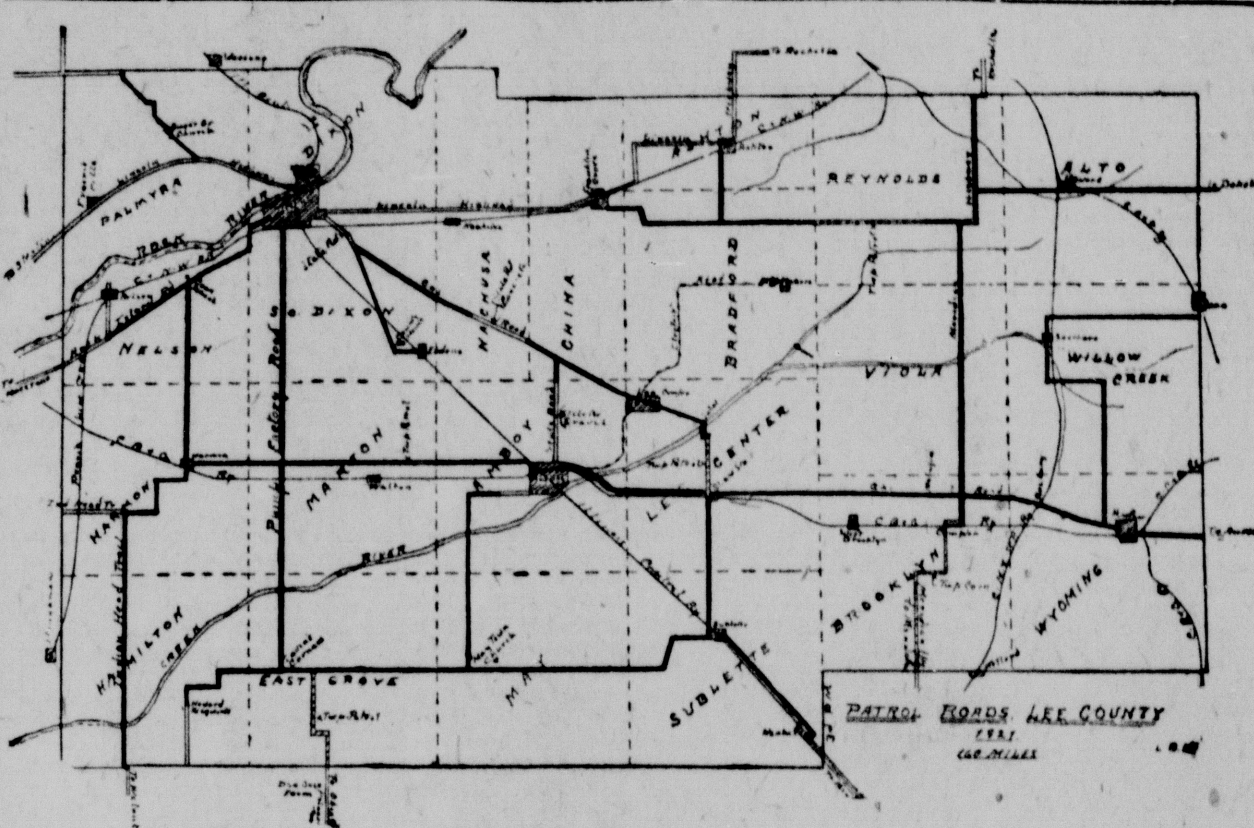

The wreckage blocked both main tracks, eighteen cars being destroyed. The train crew escaped injury, but one of three tramps known to have been on the train has not been accounted for and may be in the wreckage.

Trains are being detoured via the Chicago & Eastern Illinois to Moline. The track will not be cleared before late today.

Dr. R. B. Saxmann preached the sermon at the Broadway M. E. church in Sterling Sunday morning. Dr. Saxmann has twice filled the Sterling pulpit, because of the illness of Dr. Goebel.

LEE COUNTY'S ROAD PATROL SYSTEM

The above map, prepared by County Superintendent of Highways, L. B. Neighbour, give an excellent outline of the roads which since last June have been operated under the patrol system throughout Lee county. Since the adoption of this system, which might be said to have been experimental in a measure, roads under patrol have been wonderfully improved. Unsolicited praise for the excellent condition has come to the office of the County Superintendent many times and members of the road and bridge committee have also heard favorable comment.

The county superintendent and members of the road and bridge committee recently spent two days in making a canvass of every foot of patrolled road in the county. They were surprised upon seeing what has been done with roads under this system, which in the past have been classed as impassable.

The work may be said to have been hampered in one respect. When the patrol system was inaugurated in this county last June, none of the roads had received any particular attention. None of the roads had been built recently and all were in a more or less run down condition. Competent patrolmen were secured and old roads throughout the several townships were built up through continual maintenance.

It is a fact that some of the patrolmen have shown more interest in their work than others, and consequently some sections of the patrol system are more noticeable. Some have worked hard on sections that were impassable. No constructive work has been carried on. The road and bridge committee have outlined and are completing a program for constructive road work to start early next spring. Some of the more important highways are to be rebuilt and when completed the patrolman on that section will be responsible for the maintenance of his patrol.

This is the plan that was followed out by Bureau county, that of constructing roads before putting the patrol system into effect and would have been adopted in Lee county, had not many of the roads been almost impassable. The next year will be a constructive year insofar as the appropriation by the board of supervisors will permit and those sections which cannot be reached this year will continue under the patrol system.

BODY OF AN UNKNOWN WILL LIE IN STATE AT NAT'L. CAPITAL

Tribute is for All Unknown Heroes of Recent Conflict.

Paris, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Arrangements have been made for the removal of the body of the unknown American soldier to the United States. It was announced by General Henry T. Allen, commander of American forces in Germany, here today. At the request of the American government elaborate plans formulated by the French government for receiving the unknown soldier in Paris, have been abandoned and the only formal ceremonies will take place on Oct. 25, just before the body is placed on board the Olympia at Havre.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—When the body of the American soldier brought back from France for burial at Arlington cemetery on November 11, in memory of the nation's unknown dead in the war, is placed in the rotunda of the capitol on the night of November 9, it will lie in state on the same catafalque that was used for Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

An announcement issued today by the War Department said that the drawings about the catafalque would be a careful reproduction of those used at the funerals of the three presidents.

Troops As Escort.

The following designations of regular troops to form the funeral escort for the unknown dead were announced today.

The Marine band in its full strength of 70 pieces, a battery of field artillery from Ft. Meyer, Va.; a squadron of cavalry, Ft. Meyer, Va.; a provision regiment of infantry, composed of the Third Battalion, 8th Infantry, Ft. Washington, Md.; a battalion of sailors and marines from Washington navy yard and Quantico, Va.; and a national guard battalion, composed of two rifle companies of the New York National Guard and two companies of Pennsylvania National Guard.

A company of engineers from Camp Humphries, Va., has been assigned for guard duty at the capitol while the body of the unknown soldier lies in state, and two companies of engineers

OVER 2400 BIDS OPENED ON STATE HIGHWAY WORK

Greatest Letting of Contracts in History of State.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4.—The state arsenal was used by highway officials for the opening of road construction bids today. Representatives Hall being too small to accommodate the crowd of contractors. Highway officials estimated that it would take fourteen hours for the reading of the bids alone. The number of bids was expected to reach 2,400.

Indications, as the first bids were read, were that the $30,000 cost per mile set by Governor Small last spring as the maximum price the state would pay for paving, would be maintained in today's bidding, the largest single letting of road contracts in the history of road building in the United States, according to highway officials.

In preparation for the letting, highway engineers made 765 complete sets of plans, using the equivalent of three acres of blue print paper.

Gov. Small referred to the road work under consideration today as part of Illinois' answer to President Harding's plea for relief of the unemployment situation.

Rev. Waggoner Will Deliver Thanksgiving Day Sermon in Dixon

At the ministerial association meeting of Monday it was decided to hold the Union Thanksgiving services Thanksgiving morning, Thursday, Nov. 24th, at 10 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. H. J. Waggoner, pastor of the Christian church.

RED MEN MEETING

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 3.—Braves from 500 encampments arrived in Springfield today to light the council fires of the three day state convention of the Improved Order of Red Men. Delegates to the Red Men and Pocomtunk conventions arriving today numbered close to one thousand according to the convention registers.

will do similar duty at Arlington cemetery. The War Department's announcement did not designate the companies of New York and Pennsylvania guard which will form the national guard battalion of the military escort, that being left to the state authorities.

HOG CHOLERA SPREADS IN THIS SECTION OF STATE; VACCINE LOW

Many Herds Near Polo and Prophetstown Are Affected.

The epidemic of hog cholera is reported to be spreading rapidly in several communities and veterinarians are putting in extra hours vaccinating herds that have not been affected, as a preventative measure.

In the vicinity of Prophetstown, the epidemic is reported to have reached an alarming stage. Dr. F. B. Jones of this city spent yesterday and Sunday in that vicinity treating herds, vaccinating a total of 240 animals Monday. Several other veterinarians are also busy in this district.

West of Polo, the disease is also reported to be wide spread and several herds have suffered heavy loss. Large quantities of vaccine are being sent to both of the infected districts in an effort to combat the further spread of the disease.

In Lee county and the vicinity of Dixon, it is reported that a few cases have developed since Sunday, but they are mild, it is said. On account of the extent of the epidemic in this vicinity, a representative of a large chemical company manufacturing cholera vaccine is in the city today, conferring with local veterinarians, with a view of increasing the supply of vaccine, which has been considerably depleted with the outbreak of the epidemic.

More Applicants for Ministry Than at Any Time Since the War

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 4.—More men are applying for admission as ministers than at any time before the war, the Rev. J. H. Dalgren, chairman of the board of examiners of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, announced today. Twelve candidates appeared for the examination today at the preliminary session of the conference.

J. BROWN WILL BE IN CO. JAIL BY END OF WEEK

Sheriff and Prosecutor Left for Memphis, Tenn., Today.

Sheriff Frank Schoenholz and State's Attorney Mark C. Keller left at 1:30 this afternoon for Memphis, Tenn., to bring back J. Brown, alias F. R. Keller, who was arrested there last Wednesday on complaint of J. W. Larabee of Earlville, secretary of the Red Pollers breeders' association of Illinois and a director in the national organization.

Deputy Sheriff Freeman Robinson left Dixon Sunday noon, going to Springfield where yesterday he secured the signature of Governor Len Small to the extradition papers. The deputy proceeded to Nashville, where this morning the governor of Tennessee honored the requisition. Deputy Robinson proceeding to Memphis.

The sheriff and state's attorney will leave Chicago this evening, arriving in Memphis tomorrow morning. Barring delays it is expected that the prisoner will be back in Dixon Friday.

Shortly before 12 o'clock today, Sheriff Schoenholz received a telegram from Deputy Freeman Robinson stating that the governor of Tennessee had honored the requisition and that the deputy was on his way to Memphis.

First Number Elks Entertainments on Tomorrow Evening

Tomorrow evening at the Elks club the first number on the winter entertainment program will be presented to members of the lodge and their ladies when the Ben Hur singers and players will entertain with a varied program of new songs, sketches, monologs, character songs and instrumental numbers. Their program offers enough of the classical to please the connoisseur, and plenty of good clean humor to entertain and refresh the tired man or woman, and to make them glad that they came to the performance.

Theodore Turnquist, tenor, has a number of new and original monologs, also new songs and stories. Mr. Turnquist was awarded the $1,000 prize for composing the official song of the recent great "Pageant of Progress" in Chicago.

Mrs. Edna Severinghaus, contralto, character artist, is more charming than ever, and the rapidly with which she changes her character costumes is bewildering to all audiences. Anna Murphy, reader and soprano, is a graduate of the Leland Powers School of Expression, Boston, Mass. She has met with great success as an author and reader of short sketches.

Schumann-Heink to Sing at DeKalb

Mrs. Schumann-Heink, the world's greatest contralto, will give a concert at DeKalb in the Teachers' College Auditorium on Friday evening, October 21 at 8:15. This wonderful artist has appeared in this city on two occasions at the Rock River Assembly and on a delightful thousands in this vicinity and Dixonites will undoubtedly take advantage of this opportunity since the Lincoln Highway is in perfect condition for driving.

Women Must Tell Ages Promptly Judge Decides in Test Case

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 4.—Women must not quibble about their age if they wish to vote, according to a decision in common pleas court here yesterday when an appeal of Miss Eliza Varnock, from action of registration officials was dismissed. The court held the exact age is necessary for identification and that the words "approximate age" will not suffice.

Remains of Former Polo Man Will Rest in Sugar Grove Plot

The remains of C. L. Vollinger, a former resident of Polo, who passed away at his home in Cincinnati, Ohio, Friday, will arrive here tomorrow at 1:30. The body will be taken direct from the Northwestern depot to Sugar Grove cemetery for interment. Mrs. Vollinger was formerly Miss Emma Eastwood of this city.

AMERICAN LEGION TO MEET

The regular meeting of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, will be held this evening.

JURY RETURNED VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY MONDAY

Five Counts of Indictment Previously Dismissed.

A jury in the circuit court shortly before 6 o'clock last evening brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case against Sheriff Frank A. Schoenholz, who was being tried on a charge of misconduct in office. The jury was composed of Arthur Butler, Albert Billeb, John E. Salzman, Louis Allen, Charles Pfeiffer, Gilbert O. Lindeman, William Burhenn, Edward Dempsey, A. C. Resak, Harry Hager, James A. Bales and Charles Robinson.

The action of the jury followed the testimony of three witnesses which tended to show that Sheriff Schoenholz had no mitimus for the retention of Fred C. Dix, who escaped in July. Six counts were contained in the indictment returned by the September grand jury and on motion of Attorney John Erwin, counsel for the sheriff, two of these were quashed by Judge Edwards at the outset of the case yesterday afternoon on account of their being improperly drawn.

As the case proceeded, the jury was exasperated and three more counts were withdrawn, the prosecution being centered on one count, which concerned the escape of Fred C. Dix. Justice Martin Gannon, before whom the Dix preliminary hearing was conducted testified on the stand that his docket showed that a mitimus remanding Dix to the county jail had been issued but the defense put forth the argument that the mitimus was never released by the sheriff. Dix being held in the county jail from June 1, the date of the preliminary arraignment, until the time of his escape without this paper being issued.

SON OF PEORIA SHERIFF TAKEN IN RAID MONDAY

Charged with Operating Gambling and Hooch Resort.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., Oct. 4.—Washington C. Hines, son of Sheriff Lewis Hines, and Rola McFarland were arrested late yesterday while alleged to have been conducting a miniature "Monte Carlo" establishment on a lot owned by young Hines just outside the mile track grounds where the National Swine and Implement Show is being held. City and county officers made the raid.

The clash of slot machines, the noisy spinning of roulette wheels and the clink of whisky glasses and poker chips greeted the invading officers as they rushed into the shack built especially for the occasion. The building was well filled with people and liquor was being served freely, according to the officers. A clash between State's Attorney Galbraith and Sheriff Hines was expected today after Sheriff Hines had threatened to take away the deputy sheriff commissions as a result of the participation of Charles Schofield, special investigator from the state's attorney's office in the raid.

Self-Propelled Road Maintainer Will Be Exhibited Thursday

The lovers of good roads—and their name is legion nowadays—will be interested in knowing that a self-propelled "road maintainer" is to be put on exhibition at work near Dixon, Thursday, dressing up earth roads for the winter.

The machine represents a new idea in road tools, and much is claimed for it. Road men will be glad to see what it will do.

Because of the recent unexpected death of Commissioner Scott Morris of Nachusa, leaving part of his fall road work unfinished, County Superintendent L. B. Neighbour has selected for the exhibit some of the Nachusa roads, naming for the purpose the "Diagonal" road east of the Du-kard church, Lincoln Highway, and the road south, at the Emmert school. The exhibition will last all day.

WEARS FURS ALL YEAR ROUND.

So deeply has the woman enjoyed the comfort and charm of rich furs that she refuses to limit to a single season, that of winter. All year round she wears them now, thereby causing great consternation in the minds of the conservative, who are still gazing in wonder, and throwing up their hands in horror over the advent of the summer fur piece.

Now that autumn is with us again, and the first chill days bring a sharp nip to the air, the well dressed woman turns to her furrier expectantly for new styles, new wraps, and is not disappointed. She finds prepared for her selection of coats and capes, so that each time of the day finds its own fur piece, whether milady journeys to the opera, takes the air up on the avenue, or spends a lively afternoon upon her skates.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

When visiting for several days at the home of a friend you will fold your napkin and put it beside your plate at the conclusion of the meal. This is not done at a hotel or restaurant or if you are dining but once at the home of your friend.

You will use your fork in eating not only fish, meats, vegetables and made dishes, but frozen puddings, melons and salads.

You will not hold food on your fork, in your spoon or your hand while you speak or chew other food. Put the bread down when you have taken one bite. Do not take food on the fork or in the spoon until you are ready to eat it.

'WENT A DAY'S JOURNEY' WITH PASTOR AND FAMILY—

When Dr. Thrall, retiring pastor of the Dixon M. E. church, and his family, left by auto yesterday for their long drive to the new home and work in Knoxville, Tenn., the departure was marked by a now almost forgotten feature of such occasions.

Some of the congregation remembered how in Bible days Ruth and Orpah went a day's journey with old Naomi, when she started on the return from her sojourn in Moab to the land of her fathers.

And they remembered, how in this country, in the days when the "moving wagon" was yet known in the land, and some family was starting off to make a pioneer home somewhere on the remoter frontier, their neighbors would gather and accompany them, going as far as they could, and make it back in time for the evening chores.

So several auto loads of the M. E. congregation surprised their genial and much loved pastor by showing up at the parsonage and going a way as escort. Major Tourtellott's car led the van. The day was perfect, the roads good and the ride a delight.

On the back of the pastor's car, friends had hung a banner and the legend, "Dixon to Dixie." "That banner," said Mrs. Thrall, "is going to the whole way through with us."

As the procession was starting, it chanced the Western Union boy delivered to Dr. Thrall a telegram from his Knoxville congregation saying among other things, "Your Sunday school had over 1100 in attendance yesterday, and your Young Men's Bible class, over 800."

Dr. Thrall leaves a thriving church here, but it is evident he goes to a great work in the college town of Knoxville. Dixon friends will watch his career henceforth with exceeding interest.

LADIES OF G. A. R. IN MEETING—

The Ladies' of the G. A. R. held a well attended and interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in G. A. R. hall.

During the business session plans were made for a food sale to be held Saturday at Ferguson's store. Members are requested to respond with a donation of some kind.

There was initiating and balloting yesterday.

An invitation was extended from Mrs. Ed. Sanders to members of the G. A. R. Circle, their friends and to the comrades, to her home on the afternoon of Thursday, Oct. 13th, to enjoy a social afternoon.

RETURN FROM SOUTHERN AUTO TRIP—

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crawford, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kennedy left about three weeks ago on a southern auto trip. They camped for a week at Valley ark in Missouri and greatly enjoyed the riding through Illinois, Indiana and Missouri. On the return Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy stopped off at St. Louis to visit his people, while Mr. and Mrs. Crawford returned to Dixon.

OFF TO THE MOON

All aboard for the moon! Prof.
Robert H. Goddard of Clark University announces that a rich man has furnished "the necessary" and that the Goddard Rocket, sensation among scientists, will be fired from the earth to the moon next spring.

Who will travel inside the rocket?
"I have 20 applicants," says Goddard.
"All of them adventurers, rather than scientists." Naturally!

Jules Verne, in 1870, published
"Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." It was considered the wild dream of a visionary. In reality, it was an accurate prophecy of the modern submarine.

In 1865, Verne published "A Trip to the Moon." Will it, also, prove to be an accurate prophecy? The Goddard Rocket will tell.

In Verne's book, the men who were rushing on through space in a shell, bound moonward, passed out of the earth's sphere of gravitation. They dropped a dog out. The dog didn't fall. It began revolving in space, around the shell, a satellite, just as the moon revolves around the earth.

That raises this important scientific question: Will the Goddard Rocket reach the point where the earth's gravitation field meets that of the moon, and pause there, suspended in space?

That would be annoying to the man inside the rocket.

Man unquestionably will send huge rockets to the moon. If Goddard fails other scientists will carry the work on to perfection.

Unquestionably, too, dare-devils will travel inside the rockets. There's always someone that will try anything.

What of the mentality of such a venturer? Crazy? Why so? The rocket passenger in 30 seconds would live more than you and I live in 30 years. Then, too, he would be a martyr to a noble cause.

We of today live on the threshold of an age of scientific magic. What lies beyond can be imagined only by men like Goddard, with his moon rocket, or Marconi with his message from Mars.

Having conquered the earth, man will fly out among the stars and conquer space. Berlin, London, Tokyo, Washington, Wall Street and Paris will cease to be the big sources of news. Headlines will feature dispatches from the Sun, Jupiter, Moon, Mars or "Somewhere in the Milky Way."

Sadi Lecointe, Frenchman, has just traveled nearly three and a half miles a minute in an airplane. At that rate, as soon as science learns how to counteract gravity, we could fly to the moon in 40 days. Electricity, sent by wireless, will be the motive power.
Pity you cannot live another 100 years, to see the scientific marvels of the future.

NEW 8-HOUR LAW

Germany has had a national 8-hour day since 1918. It was intended to protect toilers from Simon Legree employers, and was so drawn.

But now the cart is before the horse. The Wirth Cabinet finds it necessary for purposes of national health, to ask the Reichstag to pass a new eight-hour law, directed against the employe, restraining him from working more than eight hours.
It seems that the ambitious German workman is so keen about providing for a rainy day that he works on one job, eight hours, then hustles to another job for four or eight hours more.

That, in a nutshell, is the German situation.

Germany's financial system may go to smash and turn the economists' hair white. But a people who have to be restrained by law from working too much are certain to pull their country out of the hole fast. Work is what makes any nation. Money is just the reflection in the mirror.

PLAN VS. PANIC

"The right way to meet depression," says a business expert, "is not to cancel orders, discharge workers, abolish advertising, dismiss the laundryman and wash your own shirt.
That is not a business plan. That is a panic."

There is not only, as this expert says, "no place for a panic in the business world," but speaking in general, as everybody knows, there is no present panic. There are no panic conditions. There is panic only in the breast of this or that individual or firm, caused by undue timidity or by a false appraisal of the situation.
Other business men are calmly waiting for improvement to come and actually preparing to take advantage of it while they wait. They are hastening to come by adding their bit to the resumption of business activity.
They are weathering the depression pretty well, and they stand to benefit fully with the returning boom they are helping to create.

Plan, not panic, is the thing. The two are mutually exclusive; the panic stricken man can not plan, and the man busy planning has no chance to get panicky. This is the time to form plans for the big time coming, and start putting them in operation.

HOW ABOUT THE PUBLIC?

Florida Star: The public, which is now engaged in denunciation of "Fatty" Arbuckle and his like, may have some responsibility in the case.
Many people have been aware of the "goings on" in the movie colony in Hollywood for some time. These stories have been winked at and glossed over with the excuse that actresses and actors are temperamental and that they demand something of the kind to act as a foil for the high strain under which they are popularly supposed to labor every day.

But business men and women everywhere also labor under a strain.
The mother who has three or four active and vigorous youngsters an-her hands laboring under a strain. The school teachers of the land labor under a strain. What would the world say if all these classes felt impelled to get drunk three or four times a week, engage in wild orgies in cafes and hotel rooms and in every conceivable species of immorality?

Next to the schools the moving picture is one of the greatest educational institutions in the world. Would the parents of the growing generation overlook such lapses on the part of teachers? Perhaps the public has been somewhat responsible for the condition that obtains.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

APPENDICITIS

BY R. H. GISHOP JR., M. D.

Appendicitis occurs four times as often in the case of men as in women.
A strange fact which has never been satisfactorily explained.

It is now easy to tell the causes of tuberculosis or typhoid fever, but the causes of inflammation of the appendix have not yet been definitely determined.

The appendix itself is an organ quite rudimentary. It represents an important part of the large intestine, still present in some of the lower forms of animals, but which in the course of human evolution has inman become so small as to be of no use. It is about two and a half to three inches long and its walls are so thick that its cavity is only as large as the lead in a blue pencil.

If some minute particle of undig-ested food gets into and remains in the appendix, it irritates the walls, and inflammation is speedily started as the result of germ activity.

The inflammation causes swelling which in turn interferes with the circulation of the blood in this region.
If the swelling continues, gangrene or a death of the tissues of the muscular wall sets in. If the appendix breaks up, it often does shortly after the attack, the poisonous germs of inflammation escape among the coils of the intestines.

These are the reasons why an attack of appendicitis with gangrene and rupture are often fatal despite an operation.

Disorders of digestion are causes of appendicitis. Haste in eating, indigestible food, lack of proper chewing,
and disorders of the stomach all aid to this end. All these things should be watched out for. Besides, one should take sufficient fluid into the system, not at meals, but distributed throughout the day.

In suspected cases of appendicitis there are several things which an intelligent person can do at the onset of an attack, real or suspected, that are quite as efficient as anything that can be done by a physician. Mere pain in the right side is not necessarily due to acute indigestion with resulting colic.

A tablespoon of castor oil with an equal amount of glycerin in a glass of cold lemonade can be taken at once by a person who believes he has appendicitis. After the oil has been taken if the pain still persists, the victim should go to bed at once and a well-filled ice bag should be placed over the painful portion, keeping it there until competent surgical attention may be secured.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
INDUSTRY

I love to work; except when summer's here
And there's a dull, lethargic atmosphere.
And well, of course, when summer turns to fall
The hunting fever holds me in its thrall
And I don't get much labor done, I fear.
Winter, I find, when it is cold and clear,
Brings many sports and pleasures I hold dear.
It's not a time, when, take it all in all,
I love to work.

Spring, when the buds and blossoms first appear
And songs of little birds soothe the ear,
Makes life seem dull within an office wall;
And so I loaf in answer to its call—
But, save for these four seasons of the year,
I love to work!

WHEN A WOMAN TELLS

By RUTH AGNES ABELING

CHAPTER LXV.

WE GO TO SEE JOHN AMES.
"Has anything been heard from Philip Ames?" I asked.

Mrs. Ames recoiled visibly.
"He has called many times—but I have not talked to him," she said.

"Do you know anything about how he is?" I ventured.

I hesitated at pressing something which I knew was painful, upon Mrs.
Ames, but I had been unable to throw off a certain queer, uneasy feeling about Philip.

"Helga," Mrs. Ames was serious, "I can't exactly say I hate Philip Ames, because I am as guilty as he—but I can't talk about him."

And that closed the subject for the day, but I had a feeling as I looked out over the lilac hedge of spring night memories, that Philip Ames had not been dismissed.

As the shadows lengthened, Lila left me to the quietness of my own room.
I was glad to be alone with my own thoughts.

I took out from under the little jewel case on my dressing table a much-creased bit of white paper and read again the words there:
"I thought, at first, it was you.
Thank God it wasn't."

I was glad, even though fate should always conspire to keep Tom and me apart, that I had no lilac hedge memories.

I went to sleep with a sense of security, glad that I had at least been trying to be four-square.

The house was stirring early the next morning.

Mrs. Ames, it seemed, had not slept well in anticipation of her trip to her husband. She was up with the dawn.
She sparkled at breakfast. She was almost her old self, except that there was something more mellow and more sweet about her attractiveness.

Tom came early and we set out. Tom rode in front with the chauffeur and Mrs. Ames and I in back.

It was a wonderful road that we

RUTH AGNES ABELING.

took. It wound through little groves and, suddenly, past a house, deserted, its paneled window frames and many gables overhanging the way like some threatening skeleton.

And somehow, later, as we sped over the smooth road, the thought of the empty skeleton house attached itself to Philip Ames and stuck in my mind.
Like the house which was no longer fit for human habitation, he seemed to be the center of some subtle tragedy.

I tried to throw the feeling off, but as the journey grew, so grew my feeling of something fateful, something fearful, in connection with Mrs. Ames' brother-in-law—the man who had put his faith in the pleasure found with mirage-like women.

THE FISHERMAN'S BITE

The fat worm kept wiggling right over Spike Starfish's head. Spike was so busy eating his oyster that he didn't see the worm at first. But suddenly one of his eyes happened to look up, and instantly he let go of his dinner. He was getting pretty tired of oysters, anyway, and the worm was a special kind the he liked.

"Oh, ho!" he chuckled loud enough month and took in Mr. Worm at one large bite.

"Ouch!"
Spike was soon kicking for dear life. "Quit biting me, Mr. Worm! I 'll spit you out," he cried. "I've a move convenient stomach, and I can turn it wrong-side out if I wish.
I'll let you go if you'll only quit biting."

But Spike didn't know that Mr.
Worm had no say in the matter

for the Twins and Cap'n Pennywin-

were all hiding in the seaweed grove. "Oh, ho, Mr. Worm! This hook which was so uncomfortable.

Suddenly the line to which Mr.
Worm and the hook were attached, and to which Mr. Starfish was now attached, was pulling up slowly toward the top of the water.

Down through the waves came
Mr. Fisherman's voice. "Ah, ha!" said he. "I've got a bite, and it feels exactly like a ten-pound haddock."

THE LETTER

BY DR. WM. E. BARTON.

Admiral Eberle sat in his very comfortable cabin on his flagship, the New Mexico, and talked about his ship. He is a modest man, but he knows that his is the best ship in the United States navy, and he admits it.

The New Mexico has electric drive.
The chief engineer Lieutenant Cain, took me down below and showed me what I have never seen before in the bowels of a great ship.

What I saw was hundreds of tons of coal, and men, naked to the waist, shoveling it into furnaces like the mouth of Gehenna, and machinery enough to drive one frantic.

The New Mexico is as easy to run as a Ford car. Lieutenant Cain said he would show me how to run it, and I could run it easily. So far as starting and stopping it, sending it backward, fast or slow, I think I learned the essential parts of it in five minutes. If we had been out at sea with plenty of room, I should not have hesitated to try it.

The admiral talked with modest pride of a large white E that is painted in two places on his ship.
There is a big E on the funnel. That means Excellent in Engineering.
There is a big E on one of the turretts. That means Excellent in Marksmanship.

The admiral said that never before had both those letters been painted on one ship in the United States navy. They represented the two first

WILLIAM E. BARTON.

prizes. Two other ships have a red E; one for Engineering and the other for Marksmanship. They are proud even of one second prize anicer, and with good reason. But the flagships of the Pacific fleet has both first prizes.

Only prizes hard to win are worth winning.
No one wants a mark of excellence

that is not the mark of honest endeavor. Or if there be a man who wants it, he is not worthy of it.

Somewhere every man should keep a place where he can record for his own encouragement his honest successes. That is what the letter E is good for.

NEW YORK.—Who will win the world series of 1921?

In the old days it was possible to get an answer to a lot of things by having Aladdin massage his old lamp.
Those were the happy days.

There being no modern Aladdins available, it becomes necessary to consult the dope pot, and pluck therefrom bits of inside information about the leading players, compare these players and draw a conclusion.

In the racing game when an authority seeks to pick the winner, he considers the past performance of the entries, the condition of the track, the ability of the jockey, the liking for the distance, and the class of the field.
That is called handicapping them, and arriving at a conclusion as to the likely winner. It all reads very nice if the horses are true to form, but they seldom do. The same goes for baseball.

Let us take the members of the New York Giants and Yankees, make a comparison of the players at their respective positions, decide which is the superior at that particular spot, add up our deductions, and see what the dope pot offers in the way of determining the winner.

Comparison of the Infielders.

I will first compare the infielders of the two clubs.

At third base Frisch will oppose either McNally or Baker. Frisch is a remarkable ball player. He is very fast, a good fielder, and has a great arm. Frisch can "beat" a ball around considerable, and then get his arm through the medium of his great arm.
He is one of the few players whose record shows that stealing bases is not a lost art. Frisch hits both ways, so is not bothered by either style of pitching. When a left-hander opposes the Giants he simply shifts to the right side of the plate.

McNally will field as well as Frisch, and is nearly as fast. Out of course will not hit as well as the Giant's sacker. Baker will hit as well, but lacks the speed and will not play as well defensively as Frisch. Thus a comparison of the possible third base candidates gives that honor to Frisch of the Giants.

How Shortstops Measure Up.

In my opinion, in Peckinpaugh and Bancroft, two of the greatest shortstops in the history of the game will be pitted against each other. I have worked in many a series in which Bancroft has played, and have often seen him in action, so that I can appreciate his great worth.

On the other hand, to my way of thinking, Peckinpaugh is truly a marvel. For years I have been watching him do the seemingly impossible, so it is very likely that I am a bit prejudiced in his favor. At handling a thrown ball with his gloved hand he is without a peer. He reminds you of Larry Lajole in that respect. He can go to his right or left with equal ease and has a strong arm. Peckin-paugh is not fast of foot, neither is he slow. At the bat he is not a great hitter, but I certainly consider him a dangerous one.

Bancroft is a great ball player.
Hughie Jennings once told me there never was a better shortstop. Hughie was a star at that position himself, has seen a lot of crack in action, and should be competent to express an opinion. Bancroft, like Frisch, shifts to the right or left side of the plate according to the style of pitching the opposition offers. He is a remarkable fielder, fast on his feet, and, like Peck, uses his brains as well as his feet and arms.

Recently when working in New York, I did a little investigating as to how the New York scribes regarded the two shortstops. I asked 12 writers for their opinion. Six of them favored Bancroft, four liked Peckin-paugh best, and two said it was a toss up.

Perhaps no body of men are in a better position to pass judgment on the New York teams, and while the majority of the writers favored Bancroft, the best I can give him is a draw. I regard the two great players as of about equal value to their respective teams.

Ward is Better than Rawlings.

At second base I would rate Ward as better than Rawlings. They are different types, and perhaps Rawlings might have a greater appeal to Mc-Graw than Ward, because he is an aggressive fighter, who overcomes some of his shortcomings by his spirit and dash. He plugged the big hole at second in the Giants infield, and is the type of player who may go big, yet on form Ward must be conceded the second-base honors.

At first base the line is perhaps drawn a little more closely. Kelly is a big fellow, who offers a good target for his infield, at the bat is always dangerous, home runs being his strong forte. Pipp is an equally good fielder, and just as good a hitter, although he won't get the distance to his drives that Kelly does. Pipp, to my way of thinking, is a much better first baseman than he is generally rated. If he has a glaring fault it is a tendency to throw wild at times. I think Pipp is entitled to a slight margin over Kelly.

Giants Stronger Behind Plate.

Back of the bat the honors go to the Giants. I believe that Schang will rate up with either Snyder or Smith, but his underlings lack experience. De-vornier has shown great possibilities, and seems destined to be a star, but it would be asking a great deal for him to share the world series burden in his first year in the majors.

Snyder and Smith are fine receivers and hard hitters. Snyder usually works against left-handed pitching, and Smith when a right-hander is opposing. Both players are extremely dangerous at the bat and have the same-run habit. Schang is doing his best catching of his career and is a very dangerous batsman.

In the outfield we have Meusel of the Giants opposed to Babe Ruth, in a battle for the left field honors. Meusel is a fine ballplayer and a great hitter. He may prove more useful than Ruth in the series, but of course the left field honors must be slipped to "Babe." It isn't because of his splendid fielding, a good thrower home-run record either because Ruth and for a big fellow, fast on the bases.
I might add that Meusel does not suffer much in comparison with baseball's outstanding star.

In center field George Burns of the Giants, who in my opinion is one of the game's greatest fielders, has the call over Miller of the Yankees. Miller is a good fielder and a fair hitter. His work in center field has greatly helped the Yankees. Burns does everything well.

Meusel Shades Young By Hitting.

Bob Meusel of the Yankees has Young of the Giants as his opponent.
If Bob Meusel took baseball seriously he would go down in history as one of the game's greatest stars. As a right-handed hitter he has almost as much power as Ruth. He lacks initiative and aggressiveness. However, he is such a remarkable batsman that I feel he is entitled to the shade over Young. I feel that hitting alone decides the margin in the case of these two players.

Yankee Hurlers Not in Best-Form.

In my two previous articles I have discussed at length the pitching strength of the two teams. The staff of the New York American League team is not going into the series in the best of shape. Shawkey has a sore arm, and Mays in the final stages of the race showed signs of overwork.
Hoyt is in fine form and should do great work in the series. Quinn may give one good game. Lack of control makes Collins and Harper doubtful.

On the other hand, the Giant pitching staff in the final six weeks of the season has shown its best form. I feel that McGraw has the edge on the pitching situation.

Summing Up of Both Teams.

Thus a resume would give the Giants the edge, back of the bat, in the box, at third base and in centerfield, with a draw at shortstop. The Yankees get the edge at first and second, in left and right field, and a draw at shortstop. That makes four points for each contender and one tie.

Since pitching usually decides the outcome of every world series, it would appear that a system of handicapping would award the best chance to win to the Giants.

The big point at issue is, will the admitted superiority of the Giants

NEW YORK IS FACING BITTER ELECTION IN MAYORALTY CONTEST

Six Candidates Appear on Ballots for Coming Election.

NEW YORK.—When Father Knickerbocker goes to the polls at the city election, Nov. 8, he will have an opportunity to vote for at least six candidates for Mayor, though one of them is in prison.

The candidates are: Democratic—Mayor John F. Hyland. Republican—Coalition, Henry H. Curran.

Socialist—Jacob Panken. Prohibition—George K. Hinds. Farmer-Labor—Jerome de Hunt. Workers' League, (Communist)—Benjamin Gitlow.

Gitlow, a former assemblyman, convicted of criminal anarchy, is serving a term at Sing Sing prison.

Preliminary skirmishes indicate that the main battle will be between Mayor Hyland, a candidate for re-election, and Henry H. Curran, president of the Borough of Manhattan, who won the spirited four-cornered primary race for the nomination by a plurality of more than 30,000 votes.

Mayor Hyland's Claims. Mayor Hyland seeks re-election on the grounds that he has made good in his four years' term as chief executive; that he has been the friend of the people; has fought "big interests" and kept the traction fare down to five cents.

Mr. Curran, who has been in city office for 10 years, has not yet decided upon his platform in detail, but has indicated that he would follow the "five minute" platform used in the primary campaign. The main issue, he believes, is that of conducting the city affairs on a business-like basis. He maintains Mayor Hyland's administration has been inefficient.

Mr. Curran and the Mayor do not belong to the mutual admiration society. They have clashed frequently. When the annual police parade was held some months ago, Mr. Curran was not invited to the reviewing stand so he mounted a fire hydrant and viewed the bluecoats as they marched by.

Republicans Apply Salve. The Republican workers have been busy applying salve to the wounds caused by the hot primary fight and apparently all is harmonious. The 3 defeated candidates recently dined with Mr. Curran and pledged their loyal support to him.

The campaign of the other candidates so far have been conducted quietly. Political observers believe their votes will not be greatly in excess of those at the last Presidential election, although it is recognized that national party lines are not followed closely in municipal elections. The city is normally Democratic. At the Presidential election a year ago, however, President Harding polled 785,783 votes, and James M. Cox, democratic candidate for President, 344,131. The Socialist vote was 129,833, the Farmer-Labor party, 13,873, and the Prohibitionists, 1,600.

The new party in the field this fall is officially named the Workers' League of Greater New York, known as the Communists. Many of its workers formerly were associated with the Socialists.

Harry Winitsky, former executive secretary of the Communist party, who like Gitlow, his running mate for Mayor, was convicted of criminal anarchy, is candidate for president of the Board of Aldermen.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, noted Socialist worker, is candidate for President of the Borough of Manhattan.
